I. THE FCT-TENURE PROGRAMME

FCT-Tenure is a new FCT funding instrument designed to promote the hiring of researchers exclusively for permanent positions. The FCT-Tenure programme is planned to be launched every two years and will be a central instrument both to stabilize careers and research plans and to create an attractive and sustainable career horizon for early career researchers.

The FCT-Tenure programme is aimed at reducing precariousness at work of researchers currently working or having worked in Portugal.

The FCT-Tenure current edition co-funds up to 1000 positions. 400 additional positions are expected to be co-funded in the context of the 2025 edition. The programme is aimed at SNCT's institutions, which may apply for funding of the career positions that will be granted through international calls.

FCT-Tenure operates on a co-funding model and allows researchers to be integrated into both the research (ECIC) and the teaching careers (ECDU, ECPDESP), or equivalent careers in case of private institutions, assuming a limit of 4 hours per week, on average, of dedication to teaching regardless of the career, and during the co-funding.

The co-funding will last for a maximum of 3 years for each position allocated to the teaching careers, and up to a maximum of 6 years for each position allocated to the research career, covering two thirds of the salary costs of each position in the first 3 years for both careers, and one third in the second three years in the case of hiring for the research career or equivalent.

The FCT-Tenure co-funding will only be eligible when the selected PhD holder has previously had a fixed-term post-doctoral work contract or research fellowship in a Portuguese institution. Whenever the Hiring Institution chooses a candidate for an FCT-Tenure position that does not comply with the eligibility criteria mentioned above, the institution will be allowed to launch a new job announcement for the same scientific area for recruitment of a PhD holder meeting the eligibility criteria.

The FCT-Tenure programme will be funded by the State Budget and the PRR (Recovery and Resilience Plan)'s Science Plus Capacity Building Measure, consolidating the vision of the PRR as an instrument for the Country's structural transformation.

II. PRIOR TO SUBMISSION

A Definitions

- i. Hiring Institution – An institution with a legal existence that employs researchers and offer them a permanent employment contract. The Hiring Institution must be one of the following:
 - Higher Education Institutions, their Institutes and R&D Units.
 - Associated Laboratories.
 - State Laboratories.
 - International Laboratories based in Portugal.
 - Private, non-profit institutions whose main purpose is R&D activities.
 - Collaborative Laboratories (CoLAB).
 - Technological Interface Centers (CIT).
 - Science and technology infrastructures.

- ii. Host Institution – An Institution that hosts researchers to be hired for a given research or teaching position, and where they develop their research and/or teaching activities. Besides the Hiring Institution itself, other institutions such as Faculties, Departments, Research Units, Associate Laboratories, with or without legal existence, and other institutions of the National Science and Technological System can also be considered as Host Institutions.

- ii. Research Unit / Associate Laboratory Chair (Cátedra UI/LA)

This applies whenever the Hiring Institution shares the responsibility for the planning of a research or a teaching position with a Research Unit (RU) or an Associate Laboratory (AL). This position may be co-funded by the RU or AL.

- iii. Non-academic Chair (Cátedra não académica)

This applies whenever the Hiring Institution shares the responsibility for funding and planning of a research or a teaching position with a non-academic Institution. The minimum co-funding for this position by the non-academic Institution is 33% and must last for at least 3 years.

B Who may submit an application?

Applications for FCT-Tenure positions must be submitted by the Head of the Hiring Institution or by an authorized representative (i.e. someone with delegated access on the PCT website). When a not delegated user try to start an application, the following message will appear on the screen:

Only one application per Hiring Institution is allowed. However, multiple FCT-Tenure positions may be added, each one related to a Host Institution (which must include the Hiring Institution, and up to three additional Institutions) and to a job description. The first application submitted on the system will prevent further submissions from the same Hiring Institution, even if created by a different user.

As part of the application, the Hiring Institution must provide complete information about itself and its hosting conditions, as well as about additional Host Institutions associated to the application (if applicable).

i. Registration

Only institutions registered on the FCT's Science & Technology Portal / PCT can apply or be added as additional Host Institutions. For institutions not yet registered on the PCT, it is necessary to complete the Institution Pre-Registration (Registo de Instituições). Given the update may take up to 2 working days, FCT advises institutions to take this into consideration and complete this registration as early as possible.

Applications will be submitted on the myFCT website.

ii. What should be known before applying to the FCT-Tenure Call

Before starting the application, make sure you are well informed about the rules governing this Call by reading the supporting documents. The terms of eligibility, as well as the rules and requirements for the application process, are set forth in the following documents:

- the Call for applications (Aviso de Abertura) for the FCT-Tenure 1st Edition;
- the Scientific Employment Regulation (Regulamento do Emprego Científico), updated in 2023, which establishes the general terms under which the funding may be granted;
- the Evaluation Guide for the FCT-Tenure, which establishes the general terms for evaluation under which funding may be granted.

Additionally, a reference template is available at FCT website, which aims at providing a concise overview of the application form and helping institutions to prepare their application.

iii. General recommendations

The application must be written entirely in English to allow the assessment by the international Evaluation Panel. Applications submitted in a different language will be considered non-assessable. In drafting and preparing their applications, FCT advises institutions to:

- Prepare the application in a careful and timely manner.
- Read carefully the instructions provided in this Guide and in the Evaluation Guide. Make sure that you have read through all the documents available on the FCT website regarding this Call.
- Learn about the structure of the Application form before beginning to fill it in. This will allow you to have an idea of what is being asked and will allow time to gather the information required for submission.
- Prepare, as early as possible, the information about the profile of the research staff (PhD holders) of the Hiring Institution and of each Host Institution, the description of the Hiring Institution, the Hiring Institution strategy to stabilize careers and to attract and retain talent, and the description of the additional hosting conditions.

- Plan and complete the application process as early as possible, in order to ensure that FCT will be able to provide the best possible assistance you may need.
- Pay attention to the myFCT error messages and proceed accordingly while filling in the application form. The system provides information for each error that it detects when you proceed to validation and submission of the application. It is advisable not to wait until the last minute to make any corrections in your application.
- The association of Chairs (optional) requires a Commitment Declaration for each of them, written in English, which should mention the co-funding level provided either by the Research Unit / Associate Laboratory or by the non-academic institution, for the required position.

iv. How to direct questions to FCT

Questions and information requests about this Call, including questions regarding the contents of the application form and technical aspects of the website, should be addressed to info.tenure@fct.pt.

Please note that FCT does not guarantee that emails received during the last two working days of the Call, or sent to a different email address, will be answered.

III. SUBMISSION OF THE APPLICATION

To start an application on the myFCT platform, the Head of the Hiring Institution or the authorized representative must log onto the myFCT website with their CIENCIA ID credentials.

The Hiring Institution can only submit one application. However, the Hiring Institution can apply for several FCT-Tenure positions.
